

AMERICA'S SAGES ARE NOT DOING THEIR JOB

Prof. Dr. Hugo de Garis

profhugodegaris@yahoo.com

<http://profhugodegaris.wordpress.com>

Abstract

America's sages (i.e. intellectuals) are not doing their job, i.e. they are not slapping down middle class mindlessness that is so prevalent in America. With the world increasingly globifying with an ever faster internet speed, if America's sages don't do the job, then Europe's sages will and with relish. Europe's sages are utterly contemptuous of America's degree of uncontested stupidity and ignorance (e.g. 70% of Americans are still religious, believing in prescientific superstitions 2000 years old, 50% of them believe that the Earth is less than 10,000 years old, etc) and will not hesitate to "set the American record straight" once the technology allows it. As an example of this kind of "European recolonization of the American mind" consider the case of Europe's (Britain's) Richard Dawkins, who has jolted the US into taking atheism far more seriously, to the point that now 30% of Americans are self professed atheists. This essay discusses the impact of Europe's sages upon the American mind as the planet globifies.